Press Release

President Al- Bashir gives directives for the provision of all necessary assistance to brothers in South Sudan

The Minister for Foreign Affairs, Professor Ibrahim Ghandour, stated on Thursday 23rd February that President Omar Al- Bashir had instructed that every possible assistance is to be provided for the brothers in South Sudan, and that the concerned ministries and institutions are to coordinate and help facilitate the delivery of humanitarian relief to the people of South Sudan who are in dire need.

Professor Ghandour added that the President had emphasised the importance of securing and facilitating the delivery of humanitarian aids from the UN and other countries via Sudan's territories.

While underlining the sympathy of the Government of Sudan with the people of South Sudan, HE. Prof Ghandour stated that the objective is to ensure the success of the international support campaign for South Sudan, aimed at alleviating the suffering of the people thereon.

Referring to the shared bonds of kinship, joint history and destiny between the people of the two countries, Minister Ghandour, talking to Sudan News Agency (SUNA), pointed out that Sudan would spare no effort in supporting and assisting the brothers in South Sudan. He further added that the current circumstances in South Sudan make it imperative on Sudan to provide all forms of support and assistance until the brothers in the South have overcome their current humanitarian crisis and suffering.
